WORLD PEACE GAME CAMP

The World Peace Game Camp is an opportunity for children to experience a 5-day intensive version of John Hunter's World Peace Game. This camp is open to children who will be entering 4th grade through 7th grade. Registration is only open to 1st time players.

The World Peace Game is a four-tiered structure that puts the problems of the world within reach of the students. Students are organized into country teams with Prime Ministers, Secretaries of Defense, and Cabinet staff. Other important roles in the game are the Secretary of the United Nations, President of the World Bank, Arms Dealers, Weather Goddess, and the Saboteur. This game exposes children to systems thinking, critical and creative problem-solving, leadership responsibilities, decision making, negotiation, and much more.

“When I was going into fifth grade, I participated in the World Peace Game Camp. I played the role of Prime Minister, which was a big job and taught me to be a good leader. I had to listen to my team and others, negotiate, strategize, make final decisions, and practice good conflict resolution skills when there was a disagreement. The Game was super fun and I took away so many great traits that I still carry forward in my life. If you can sign up for the World Peace Game Camp, do it, it's amazing! It's a once in a lifetime opportunity that not enough people know about.”
