These Boots Have Lasted Me 12 Years. Unfortunately, They’re $600.

Published October 9, 2025

“[O]n the night before my 23rd birthday, a shoebox arrived by express mail, all the way from Australia…

I am 35 now, and those same boots are still the first shoes I reach for whether I’m wearing black jeans and a T-shirt or a dark navy suit…

The only real issue with these boots is their cost: $619. That is still a lot of money to spend on a single item of clothing, but given that my old pair has lasted 12 years so far, I believe that even their price is worth it.”

The University of Chicago helped build prestige with heavy investment in its programs and campus.

The school that produced Milton Friedman and 34 other Nobel Prize-winning economists is struggling to manage its pocketbook.

AND PAIGE DESORBO

Factors That Most Contributed to Non-Profit 4-Year College Closures

- Undergraduate Enrollment was Down 15% from 2010 to 2021
- Increase in Discount Rates To Over 50%
- Lack of Data – Quantity and Quality
- Structural Predictors

Pressures in Higher Ed

- Demographic Cliff
- Broader Economic Concerns
- Decreasing NTR
- Competition from Public Universities
- Inconsistent Data
- Endowment Size
- Structural Pedictors

Pressures in Independent Schools

- Demographic Cliff It's Already Here!
- Same Broad Economic Concerns
- Competition from FREE Public Schools
- Decreasing Net Tuition Revenue
- Lack of Sufficient Endowment
- Structural Predictors Are A Mixed Bag
- Some Markets Simply Have Too Many Seats
- Data Likely Even Less Consistent

Make sure you're solving the right problem

Structural Budget Deficit

vs

Episodic Budget Deficit

Burying one's head in the sand....

.....is not the solution

Zombie Schools

When facing a structural budget deficit*

- org effectiveness
- org transformation
- merger
- acquisition
- closure

* Without a money tree

If your school is going to have a deficit

Productive Loss

Unproductive Loss

Addressing Root Causes Instead of Symptoms

When leadership teams and/or boards address problem symptoms instead of root causes, there can be unintended consequences, which can make the problem worse.
