

TODDLE

AI-powered Tutors: An Essential Instructional Learning Tool That Keeps Teachers in the Driver's Seat

Who: Heads of School, Division Heads, Technology Directors and Teachers

When: Tuesday, March 4th, 2025 from 9:00 to 10:00 a.m.

Where: Virtual on Zoom

Session Description:

AI Tutors are reshaping the way students learn, but what does that really look like in practice? In this session, Cindy Blackburn, Toddle's Director of Learning & Engagement will explore how AI-powered tutors can provide instant feedback, adapt to individual learners, and help educators personalize assessment—while keeping teachers in the driver's seat.

We'll discuss:

- ✓ The shift from AI as a novelty to AI as an essential learning tool
- ✓ How AI Tutors can replicate the effectiveness of 1:1 tutoring at scale
- ✓ The role of AI in reducing teacher workload without compromising student agency
- ✓ What's next: The rise of AI agents and what it means for schools

You'll leave with a clearer understanding of how to leverage AI for deeper learning, greater efficiency, and truly personalized student support.

Biography:

Cindy Blackburn, M.Ed. Cindy has a Masters of Education in Teacher Leadership and worked as an elementary educator and administrator internationally for ten years. She currently works as the Director of learning and engagement at Toddle and specializes in developing resources to support teachers and leaders in honing their practice and understandings, to make professional learning simple, actionable, and above all else, joyous.

Check out her podcast The School Leader's Project to hear from experts like Jo Boaler, Carol Ann Tomlinson, Jay McTighe, and other great thinkers in education!

experience, he understands executive compensation from many perspectives: legal, accounting and tax, school budget constraints, the board's fiduciary and stewardship responsibilities, and from knowing well the demands and challenges of sitting in the head's seat. Cliff graduated from Georgetown University where he majored in accounting, and he earned a Juris Doctor from the University of Mississippi School of Law. Cliff and his family now make their home in Carbondale, Colorado.

- Free for those schools who purchased a speaker series subscription.
- $50 per attendee for those schools who have chosen "A la Carte". You may pay by credit card when you register.