

TODDLE

AI and Curriculum: The Dynamic Duo

Who: Division Heads, Deans of Faculty, Teachers

When: Tuesday, February 17th, 2026 from 9:00 to 10:00 a.m.

Where: Virtual on Zoom

Description:

Robert Marzano said it best: "The single most important initiative a school or district can engage in to raise student achievement... is a guaranteed and viable curriculum."

But in many districts, this work slips through the cracks, outsourced to textbooks, inherited from last year's drive, or left to the preferences of whoever's teaching next. The truth? Curriculum design is both art and architecture. It requires space for teacher creativity and student voice and a strong foundation of clarity, coherence, and purpose.

Now, we have a new teammate in the mix. Think of AI as your on-demand curriculum consultant, ready to help you map standards, generate essential questions, and differentiate content in record time. In this hands-on session, we'll explore how AI can support the human heart of curriculum work by freeing up time and elevating quality.

You'll walk away ready to:

1. Define the essentials of a strong curriculum
2. Explore real ways AI can support curriculum mapping and unit design, without sacrificing professional judgment or creativity.
3. Try tools and prompts you can bring back to your team to save time and spark better conversations around curriculum design.

About Cindy

Cindy Blackburn is a self-proclaimed curriculum nerd and a global leader in learning design. With over 15 years of experience in international and districts, she's helped teams on five continents make sense of standards, design meaningful learning experiences, and bring coherence to the chaos of curriculum.

As Director of Learning at Toddle, Cindy builds tools, resources, and PD experiences that support schools and districts in doing their most important work, crafting a curriculum that's coherent, flexible, and centered on student growth. She believes curriculum is not just a document, but a living promise to learners, and she's passionate about making that promise clear, actionable, and inspiring for teachers everywhere.
